

BLUEPRINT ADDENDUM REPORT

for Individuals with a Legal Name Change

January 20, 2021

GENERATED FOR

Birth Name:

Karen Jane Webber

Current Legal Name:

Karen Jane Johnson

Date of Birth:

April 2, 1968

● INTRODUCTION

If you have experienced a legal name change, it is extremely important to understand that such a change has a strong effect on your life. The MM2 Blueprint Addendum report can pinpoint precisely how such a name change is either helping or hindering you in seeking your life's goals.

With this report, you can learn something new about your legal name change. This is a limited report that provides you with just the information you will need to compare behavioral traits you were born with to those behavioral traits represented and superseded by changing your name. It is somewhat like switching ponies in the middle of the race, not knowing in advance what the outcome of that decision will bring you.

Normally, the behavioral trails that come with a legal name change gradually – over a period of time, influence the traits assigned to you at birth. Your birth name and your legal name change each represents a specific set of energetic frequencies. If the two sets of frequencies are not compatible – frequency wise – it will cause internal power struggles and can affect your outer behavior as well as your happiness.

● WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT A LEGAL NAME CHANGE

Always remember your birth name defines your “true” calling and remains with you for your entire lifetime – regardless of how many times you legally change your name. The name you were born with represents the foundational design assigned to you at birth and is written as your Life Blueprint report. Altering of your birth name can be a life-changing experience.

When you legally change your name, the characteristics (traits) subject to change are your (1) emotion, (2) personality and (3) purpose because the name reveals only those three traits. The rest of the components found in your Life Blueprint report are tied into what the date of birth reveals or those components that piggyback directly off the birth name. That's why this Blueprint Addendum is a partial report because no other components outlined in your Life Blueprint report are relevant to a legal name change.

Your “new” legal name acts as an influence over the original set of personal characteristics specified by your original birth name, and attracts a new set of behavioral experiences. But here's the tricky part: for this to be a smooth transition from name-to-name, the names must be compatible. Unfortunately, 98% of the time, they are not.

Based on the Chaldean mathematics of sound (the number system MM2 rediscovered), each letter of the Chaldean alphabet carries with it a unique energetic frequency. Changing your name changes the letters of your name which changes the energetic frequencies of that name. If the birth name and the new legal name do not harmonize and/or are not in sync, you will experience internal power struggles whereby the behavioral traits of each name vie for dominance. This will surely create havoc in your life.

During the power struggle, if there is one, the birth name traits become somewhat dormant, yet remain active below the surface, waiting to reassert their birth right. However, the energy frequencies of both names will continue to fight for control if the differences between the traits are incompatible or drastic in some way.

Regardless of how many times you've legally changed your name, the only two names that matter for effecting your life are your birth name written on your original birth certificate and your current full legal name.

● NICKNAMES HAVE NO EFFECT

Many people prefer to use a nickname in place of their birth name or a current legal name they might not like. Nicknames are just that – nicknames as they have no effect on an individual. Only the birth name or current legal name matters in calculating a Life Blueprint report or Blueprint Addendum report because you are bonded to the energetic frequency of your legal name.

● HOW TO USE THIS BLUEPRINT ADDENDUM REPORT TO BENEFIT YOU

In the following Blueprint Addendum diagram, you will see why this report is very specifically targeted at the effects of your name change, and why you should refer back to your Life Blueprint report for the hidden secrets of your full potential in this lifetime.

Take the time to know yourself by studying the traits assigned to you at birth (Program "A") and then compare them to the new traits that eventually become a more powerful influence over your original traits (Program "B").

For best results, follow the three-step process on the following page for understanding what the effects are of legally changing your name.

STEP #1

Study your Life Blueprint report FIRST in its entirety before delving into your Blueprint Addendum report. The information found in your Life Blueprint report is not intended to be a fast read. Remember: Knowledge is Power and you are a precious being put on this earth for a specific reason and purpose.

STEP #2

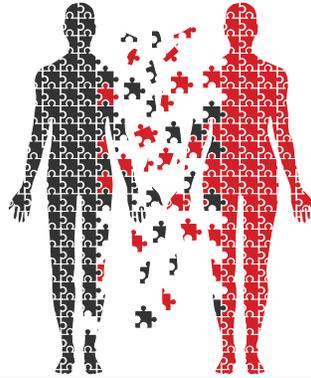

After completing Step #1, you will be ready to review your Blueprint Addendum report that will provide a characteristic (trait) comparison between your birth and legal names. Compare the traits of both names to see what the differences are – frequency wise (aggressive, nonaggressive, passive or impulsive).

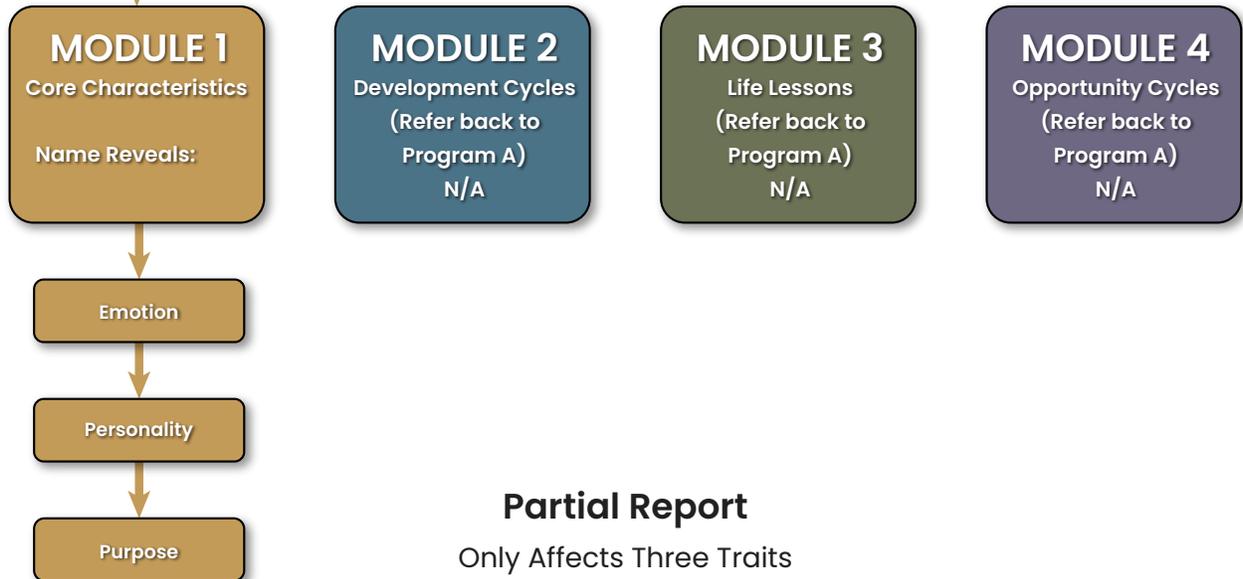

STEP #3

After learning what the differences are between the traits of your birth name and that of your legal name change, found in your Blueprint Addendum report, refer back to your Life Blueprint report again to review the big picture of who you are capable of becoming. While comparing and contrasting the profiles of both names, you will be able to see how the different traits can cause incompatibility between the two sets of behavioral patterns. Keep in mind that your birth traits, although they remain dormant, can still reassert themselves – causing conflicts, between what was and what currently is, if the two sets of traits are not compatible.

● COMPARE TRAITS OF YOUR BIRTH NAME TO YOUR CURRENT LEGAL NAME

The Blueprint Addendum report gives you the ability to compare the two sets of traits between your birth name and your current legal name so you can see what features have changed from name-to-name and how the name change can be affecting you.

There are only three possible outcomes when you change your name; (1) no change at all (same as birth name traits), (2) slightly different, or (3) drastically different. By understanding the differences between the vibrational patterns that may have changed, you are in a better position to know why you react the way you do.

To speed up the process for exploring what the differences are between your names, MM2 created characteristic (trait) comparisons, showing the behavioral traits as written in your Life Blueprint report, Program "A" and in this Blueprint Addendum report, Program "B".

The purpose of this exercise is to show you how your birth traits and traits from a legal name change can easily take you off course without you even knowing the consequences. If the differences are drastic and not compatible, then the individual is caught up in a tug of war without really even knowing what the war is all about, let alone as a result of a legal name change.

The core characteristics set the stage for who you are, but it goes much deeper than appearances or personalities. Each of the characteristics play a very specific role in your life – acting like an individual contributor. The characteristics are classified as either aggressive, nonaggressive, passive or impulsive, making the individual yet even more complex. This is because there are seventeen (17) different combinations of trait possibilities (or energetic frequency types) for each of the three behavioral traits in question. Not all of the traits are compatible, e.g., such as an individual whose birth trait is creative (impulsive) and that trait gets superseded with an intellectual trait (nonaggressive), making this exchange that of complete opposites. The creative trait is social and joyful whereas the intellectual trait is analytical and hermit-like, not necessarily liking social activities.

Another example would be someone who has rigid and controlling traits (aggressive) that gets superseded with a sensitive trait (passive) – again, this is a conflict between the behavioral traits. These are just two examples of why it's important to know what the effect is of changing your name. When you have assumed the new legal name, it generally takes nine (9) years to fully bond and resonate to that name, provided you are using your legal name full time.

Presented in the following tables is a full description of the behavioral traits of the three core characteristics assigned to you at birth and what the new traits calculate to be as a result of your legal name change. The comparisons make it easy for you to analyze the differences between the two sets of characteristics that are either aggressive, nonaggressive, passive or impulsive.

Module 1: Life Blueprint Characteristics

For Birth Name:
Karen Jane Webber

Your Emotion # 22/4

Nature:

Passive/Controlling/Emotionally Sensitive

Your Emotion is a driving force behind human behavior and will be a factor in decisions you make based upon your expression type and interests.

Your Emotional need is to attain higher aspirations with the potential of creating and building foundations benefiting mankind.

Your emotional nature propels you to become a general builder or advisor/counselor with the potential of creating foundations for great humanitarian work. You operate from higher aspirations for serving humanity with a much greater energy and drive that represents hard work, discipline, organization, and the desire for solid foundation and structure. You have the ability to make useful and practical things both magnificent and uplifting as you strive for perfection. You need to cultivate a steadfast adherence to your ideals in the midst of materiality and conflict. Your passive and rigid natures must be kept in balance so you remain in sync and in control. Your desire for peace and no drama could easily hamper your success if you don't diplomatically stand your ground and learn to speak the truth without avoiding confrontation. Your nature requires that you not go it alone, so it's unlikely that you will become an entrepreneur unless you are in a partnership or have financial backing. Develop your intuitive nature and be more flexible to change.

Module 1: Life Blueprint Characteristics

For Birth Name:

Karen Jane Webber

Your Personality #9

Characteristics:

Nonaggressive/Compassionate

Your Personality forms the first real impression you make on others and is the physical aspect that influences the way you come across to others; and how they are likely to react to you.

Your Personality gives the impression of being well-balanced, efficient, and a service-oriented humanitarian.

You will be seen as a humanitarian, truthful, noble, and dedicated to the service of others. You are generous, sympathetic, and a guardian of mankind. You appear to be romantic and an idealist. You are very much in control of the image you send out to others. You are charismatic, but sometimes lack the force of following though developing friendships – service to mankind tends to be your first priority. You can easily lose sight of what's important to you on a personal level. There will be a conflict between your personal life and that of being a compassionate humanitarian if you don't manage your priorities correctly. Your assignment is to serve not save others.

Module 1: Life Blueprint Characteristics

For Birth Name:

Karen Jane Webber

Your Purpose #13/4

Traits:

Aggressive/Controlling/Impulsive

Your Purpose reveals your life's mission and what you have available to express yourself in the world to gain the most out of living. It's what your higher self wants you to be but only you can decide if and how you wish to accomplish mission goals.

You are likely to choose a career path as a visionary leader, who is charismatic, innovative, creative, and strategic.

You were more likely born to take a leadership position where your creativity, original ideas and ambition are best served. Seek a position as a spokesperson, manager or organizer. You have a talent for detail, hard work, structure and foundation. You are a natural builder, controller and leader who inspires through creativity. You also have a talent for writing, speaking and entertaining. That broad mix of behavioral traits will cause conflicts between being aggressive, independent, impulsive and rigid. You need to balance those traits or they can become potentially disruptive. You will struggle with wanting to play and the need to work. Be flexible to change and remain grounded to avoid spinning out of control.

For Current Legal Name:

Karen Jane Johnson

Your Emotion #8

Nature:

Aggressive/Independent/Materialistic

Your Emotion is a driving force behind human behavior and will be a factor in decisions you make based upon your expression type and interests.

Your Emotional need is all about gaining power and financial success in life on all levels.

Your emotional nature propels you to become an entrepreneur or a powerful leader in executive management roles or in any business endeavors where you get the recognition and monetary rewards of success. This is a very materialistic characteristic. You respect power and success and have all the stamina, courage, and judgment, drive and talents needed to direct and manage others. Your desire is to be involved in large operations seeking important positions, especially in the financial and commercial world. You have an excellent sense of values, strength, determination and efficiency in managing complex details. You dislike laziness, weakness, lack of strength of character, and anything second best. Be careful that you don't become detached, impersonal, and distant, as others will see you as overly confident and arrogant. You do not want to treat your romantic involvements in the same manner as you would in how you deal with others in business. If you do, you may unconsciously drive those that matter most to you away by being too aggressive and causing others to experience disillusionment. Be careful not to let monetary rewards rule your life – remain humble.

For Current Legal Name:

Karen Jane Johnson

Your Personality #7

Characteristics:

Nonaggressive/Intellectual/Analytical/Reserved

Your Personality forms the first real impression you make on others and is the physical aspect that influences the way you come across to others; and how they are likely to react to you.

Your Personality gives the impression of being reserved, aloof, and intellectual.

You will be seen as an intellectual who is mysterious, different, serious, subtle, exclusive, highly independent, requiring solitude and peace as a deep thinker. Guard against appearing arrogant when you are really a loner who avoids the limelight and social activities. You are probably hard to get to know at first, but once the barrier is broken, your aloofness and quiet personality turns friendly toward others. You are more intellectual than social which can cause others to misjudge you as unfriendly or impersonal for the wrong reasons. Add creativity and physical activities in your life to balance your intellectual mind.

For Current Legal Name:

Karen Jane Johnson

Your Purpose #6

Traits:

Passive/Compassionate/Emotionally Sensitive

Your Purpose reveals your life's mission and what you have available to express yourself in the world to gain the most out of living. It's what your higher self wants you to be but only you can decide if and how you wish to accomplish mission goals.

You are likely to choose a career path in an artistic field such as music, visual arts, arts education, teaching or providing service to others in some capacity.

You were more likely born to be a cosmic parent or teacher in service to home and community and work from a position of great responsibility and trust, as you are compassionate, domestic, and nurturing. You will be a strong influence in establishing harmony and beauty in every environment where you go because of your gentle temperament that is pleasing to all who come in contact with you. Your rewards will come through your service, love and protection, primarily on a personal level of satisfaction. Your desire is to please and serve; however, you must be careful not to sacrifice your needs for others in the course of wanting to be needed or you will feel resentful that you gave more than you received. You will need to resolve all issues with confrontation and learning to set boundaries to take care of yourself first before helping others. It's important for you to have the ability to say "no cannot do" instead of "yes can do" or you will be easily manipulated and take on others' assignments.

● SUMMARY

After evaluating the differences between the two-name traits, you'll want to pick up where you left off by referring back to your Life Blueprint report that holds the secrets to who you are.

The current traits described in this Blueprint Addendum report are valid as long as you continue to use this legal name. Should you legally change your name again, this report will no longer be valid. Each new name comes with a new set of characteristics. Each trait has a unique frequency that makes this process of switching names more complicated. That's because there are seventeen (17) different trait combination possibilities for each of the three core characteristics. Not knowing what the exchange will generate is like playing pin the tail on the donkey – remember this is a mathematical formula that drives the end result. You just don't know in advance what traits your legal name will calculate to be.

The only two names that matter are your birth and current legal names. Nicknames do not factor into the calculation. There is a high probability you will experience some conflicts between traits and that's why it's important to know what those differences are so you can manage the trait differences.

Always remember your birth name defines your "true" calling and remains with you for your entire lifetime – regardless of how many times you legally change your name. The name you were born with represents the foundational design assigned to you at birth.

This will complete the process for understanding the assigned traits at birth and how legally changing your name has or has not affected you.
